The Doctrine of the Last Things: Eschatology 3 We note in passing that many of the things that are at present enjoyed in faith still remain in the realm of hope. For example, Romans 5:1 speaks of a present experience and assurance of justification. Yet in Galatians 5:5 Paul speaks of waiting, through faith for the hope of justification.

of the certainties of Biblical eschatology. It is our conviction that no one has all the answers to questions about the future. It is also our conviction that the history of the Christian Church teaches us to be modest in our claims, and tentative in many details of our doctrine of the future. Yet, having said this, it is also our convic-
