A turbine blade is the individual component which makes up the turbine section of a gas turbine or steam turbine. The blades are responsible for extracting energy from the high temperature, high pressure gas produced by the combustor. The turbine blades are often the limiting component of gas turbines. To survive in this difficult environment, turbine blades often use exotic materials like ...

A steam turbine is a device that extracts thermal energy from pressurized steam and uses it to do mechanical work on a rotating output shaft. Its modern manifestation was invented by Sir Charles Parsons in 1884.. Because the turbine generates rotary motion, it is particularly suited to be used to drive an electrical generator “ about 90% of all electricity generation in the United States in ...

Dresser Masoneilan valves utilize the surplus pressures even though the popular misconception is that valves create the drop. In performing the valving function, the restrictive ports control the flow rate so that the excess pressures become centralized in one place “ at the ports of the valve.

Gas from the inlet separator and from the recycle compressor discharge cooler are combined and sent to the mercury removal system. Mercury removal vessel reduces the mercury content from 270 $\frac{1}{4}$ gm/Std. m³ at the inlet to 10 nano gram/m³ at the outlet. Wet gas enters the glycol contactor at the bottom and flows up through the column packing which permits intimate contact with tri ethylene ...
